Vanessa Palumbo is an instructor of a local Stroller Strides class in San Antonio, Texas. Vanessa's Stroller Strides class is a combination of running and circuit training. Each hour long class takes place in an outdoor park where local moms load up their kids in jogging strollers and set out for a run. The run is followed with brisk rounds of strength training and endurance drills.

The run itself is challenging with Vanessa and her students navigating the heavy strollers over unpredictable terrain. After the run, Vanessa leads the group in strength training exercises with resistance bands and weights. Exercises usually include biceps curls, lunges and squats. With the average summer temperature in San Antonio hovering in the high 90's, the moms of Stroller Strides often find themselves bathed in sweat by the time Vanessa ends class.

"After doing my usual workout in the Agion Active T- shirt, I noticed a considerable difference - I didn't stink! I could socialize with confidence knowing that I wasn't going to embarrass myself by being smelly."

"In the summertime I feel like San Antonio is one of the sweatiest and smelliest cities in the country," says Vanessa. "After an outdoor Stroller Strides class, I am drenched in sweat."

When Vanessa volunteered to be a T Tester for Agion Active, she was skeptical; a T-shirt that wouldn't stink after she was done at Stroller Strides? Not likely! But she pulled it on and gave it her best. She wore the shirt during an hour workout and then she kept it on to stay in the park and play with the kids.

"Sometimes we all go out after class," said Vanessa. "Usually I have to hide in my car and clean up with wet wipes, deodorant and body sprays before I would even think about going anywhere. After doing my usual workout in the Agion Active T- shirt, I noticed a considerable difference - I didn't stink! I could socialize with confidence knowing that I wasn't going to embarrass myself by being smelly."
